MAINTENANCE

TAKING CARE OF YOUR JEWELRY
Jewelry regularly worn, may not look as good as new. Through ordinary wear, it loses in luster and the stones become matt. Jewelry will continue to look good, providing it is adequately taken care of. The more often it is taken care of, the longer you will be able to enjoy it.

CORRECT WEARING OF JEWELRY
Do not wear jewelry when doing housework, gardening, playing sport, during showering and swimming, when sunbathing or visiting the sauna. Rinse water and perspiration will eventually damage the surface of jewelry. Bumping, as well as exposure to strong sunlight, will damage sensitive material irreparably. Jewelry may rapidly lose their colour, due to exposure to chlorine and salt water. Protect your jewelry from contact with cosmetics, such as hair spray, powder, perfume, deodorant, sun protection products etc. and avoid steam, fat and oil.

GENERAL CLEANSING TIPS
Jewelry needs to be cleansed as often as possible. In general, each piece of metal jewelry without decoration, may be cleansed with mild soapy water. Cleanse each piece individually and not all simultaneously. Do not use strong cleansing material or solvents for the treatment of your jewelry. Furthermore, toothpaste or denture cleansing products, are not suitable. Warm bathing in soapy water will definitely be adequate. In principle, pearl jewelry should not have any moist cleansing, but rubbing with a lightly moist chamois leather cloth with be adequate. Faded silver jewelry may be cleansed with a silver cleansing cloth. These are impregnated with special cleansing substances, which guarantee protective cleansing.

STORING
It is best to store your jewelry in a special jewelry case. In a case with various compartments, with soft lining and separate section for rings, it will be excellently stored. To avoid scratching, keep the individual pieces separate from each other.
